Nampo Cape brings winds of progress in 2019

It's time for the next Nampo Cape and this event, which celebrates its second year of existence, takes place from Wednesday, 4 September to Friday, 6 September, in Bredasdorp.

This year's theme is "Winds of progress" and, like last year, the trade show will be presented by Grain SA and Bredasdorp Park NPC, at Bredasdorp Park.

"I am incredibly excited to see how this year's Nampo Cape has grown compared to last year and I think this is definitely going to be an opportunity not to be missed," says Marlene Momberg, public relations and event coordinator at Hinterland.

This year's program boasts several highlights that attendees can look forward to.

The Agriculture Farmers Plans competition is being presented for the first time this year and offers participants the opportunity to compete with their plans and patents with big prizes up for grabs.

The Nedbank flower exhibition will also be back this year, but it will be much larger with a focus on a huge variety of flowers.

Female visitors, in particular, can also look forward to the Media 24's programme for women, that promises to be one for the books with the popular Kevin Leo, who will be in action as a guest artist.

The kykNET programme, Nasie in Gesprek, is also visiting Nampo Cape 2019 and will once again be placing current topics, relating to farmers in the Western Cape, under the magnifying glass.

With no less than 470 exhibitors, visitors can rest assured that there will be more than enough to keep them busy during this show. Food stalls will also be plentiful to ensure that visitors maintain their energy levels as they move through the showgrounds.

Admission fees for Nampo Cape are R70 for adults and R20 for scholars and tickets will be available at the gates. Tickets can also be booked online at Ticketpro, at R60 for adults.
